REMARKS

25X1

1. On 16 January 1952, a soldier of the 106th Hv Gds Tank and SP Gun Regt in Kagan (P 49/X 49) stated in a conversation that only members of classes 1929 through 1932 still served with the unit. The 1928 class had already been discharged. The soldier, who was due for discharge himself, said that, after the dismissal of the veterans, discipline in the unit was considerably tightened and that many new officers served with the regiment. *
2. Lieutenant Colonel Gureyev (fnu), one of the new officers and deputy chief of the technical section of the regiment, was popular with the troops while the other new officers were said to be very severe. Rumors in the regiment stated that Colonel Sokolov (fnu), the regimental commander, would not return to the unit and that Lieutenant Colonel Rubanov (fnu), his present deputy, would become regimental commander. ***

- 25X1 * Comment. The 106th Gds Hv Tank SP Regt is confirmed by the information in the present report in Kagan until 16 January 1952.
- 25X1  Comment. Guards Colonel Sokolov (fnu) is carried as the commanding officer of the 106th Gds Hv Tank SP Regt.
